

ABOUT THE LOCAL SHOPS

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB HELD IM-PORTANT MEETING DUR-ING FORENOON.

NOTHING IS BEING LEFT UNDONE

The City Has No Contract Requiring Continuous Operation of the Employment of a Stated
Number of Persons.

An important meeting of the Business Men's club was held at their rooms this morning to talk over the closing of the Missouri Pacific shops on February 20, and to ascertain if the city has a contract with the railway company that requires the continuous operation of the plant and the employment of a specified number of persons.

It was learned beyond question that Sedalia has no contract with the company whereby the city council, Business Men's club or any other local agency can force the railway management to operate the shops when the said management has decided to temporarily or permanently close them.

Many Sedalians have labored under the belief that the city has a contract that calls for the employment of not fewer than 1,500 persons at the shops. There is no foundation for any such belief. The city's contract with the company does not state that a stipulated number of employees are to be on the company's payroll. This is a question that is discretionary wholly with the railway management.

The Business Men's club has had several meetings since the shops were closed on February 20 to talk over the situation, and everything possible to an early resumption of work has been done, but nothing can be accomplished in the direction desired until George J. Gould, president of the road, gives the command to his lieutenants to resume work.

The Missouri Pacific is only one of many roads that has been forced to close its shops at numerous points in order to reduce expenses. The financial flurry that began last fall extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the lakes to the gulf, and Sedalia is only one of scores of railroad towns that has felt its effects most keenly by the closing of railway shops and the reduction of forces in all branches of the railway service.

The Missouri Pacific has invested more than $1,000,000 in its Sedalia shops. The investment was made as a business proposition, and it is safe to presume that Mr. Gould and his aids are as anxious for the resumption of work at the plant here as the employees are to get back into harness and as the merchants are to hear the familiar sound of the shops whistling.

Just when business will be such that Mr. Gould will order the reopening of the shops here no one knows, possibly not even Mr. Gould himself. It is known, however, that it will be just as soon as the revenue of the company justifies it, which all hope will be only a short time.

It is known that when the order to resume work does come the Sedalia shops will be the first to reopen, and it will be with a larger force of workmen than was employed at the time of the close down.

Mr. J. W. Mellor, secretary of the Business Men's club, will visit St. Louis within the next few days for a further conference with Mr. A. W. Sullivan, general manager of the Missouri Pacific, on the subject, and in the meantime there is nothing for the people of Sedalia to do but accept the situation with the best grace possible.

All's well that ends well, and the Democrat-Sentinel feels confident that such will be the case in the matter of the Missouri Pacific shops.

THE NEHEMGAR CLUB

The Hour of Meeting Changed to 8 O'clock.

At tonight's meeting of the Nehemgar club Dr. E. A. Wood will present a paper on "Municipal Health," the discussion of which will be led by Dr. W. M. Carter.

This is a timely topic, coming on the eve of the Sedalia house-cleaning day and the great rally in behalf of civic cleanliness.

Municipal health and civic cleanliness are closely related topics, and are worthy of agitation by our best and most thoughtful citizens.

Ritchie Tent Social Session.

Ritchie tent No. 152, K. O. T. M., held a delightful and well attended social session at the lodge hall last night. The arrangement committee had completed everything for an enjoyable time, and every one fortunate enough to be present enjoyed the affair.

There was a fine menu, a select musical program and toasts, speeches, vocal selections and story telling, and at a late hour all returned home, voting the affair a complete success.

SCORES THE ANARCHISTS

PRESIDENT SENT ANOTHER MESSAGE TO CONGRESS TODAY.

ASKS A BAN AGAINST THE "REDS"

Says the Anarchist is the Most Dangerous Criminal in the World and That He is the Enemy to All Humanity

Washington, April 9.—In one of the shortest messages which he has yet transmitted to congress, President Roosevelt today called the attention of that body to the necessity for further legislation on the subject of anarchy. With the message he also transmitted a report reviewing the legal phases of the question by Attorney General Bonapart. The president says:

"When compared with the suppression of anarchy every other public question is put into insignificance. An anarchist is an enemy to humanity, an enemy to all mankind, and his is a deeper criminality than any other. No paper published either here or abroad should be permitted circulation in this country if it propagates anarchist sentiments.

The president directs the postmaster general to exclude from the mails all such publications, and calls the attention of congress to the fact that it has full power to make such publications criminal.

State vs. George Bilodeau, same charge; dismissed.

State vs. Arthur Crook, assault with intent to kill; two years in the penitentiary.

A 5 PER CENT INCREASE

On the Assessed Valuation of Pettis County Farm Lands.

County Clerk Imhoff has received notice from the state board of equalization that an increase of 5 per cent of taxation on the assessed valuation of all farm lands in Pettis county has been levied.

There were eight counties in the state that suffered the 5 per cent increase, while over twenty counties were increased 10 per cent.

The increase is said to be due to the loss of funds from saloon licenses, caused by the recent local option wave.

Should rain interfere, however, the parade and celebration will be postponed until some date to be announced later.

JUDGE BAILEY STRICKEN

Partial Stroke of Paralysis Yesterday Afternoon.

Judge Z. F. Bailey, of the real estate firm of Bailey & Smith, was stricken with paralysis on the left side of his body at his home, 1310 South Osage avenue, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The family physician was summoned, and today the patient is pronounced slightly improved.

Judge Bailey's left arm and side appear better, although the left leg is still paralyzed.

FOUR POLICEMEN TO PRISON

A Seven Years' Sentence for Each of the Officers Who Stole.

Philadelphia, April 9.—The four policemen who were arrested last Saturday for robbing stores and warehouses on the boats which they patrolled in the wholesale district pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Kinsey and each was sentenced to serve seven years in the Eastern penitentiary.

The convicted policemen are John W. Straub, John Kelly, C. M. Luckenbill and A. R. Sithens.

A STATE FAIR MEETING

The Executive Committee Adjourned at Noon Today.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Missouri state fair board was held at Secretary Stinson's office last night and adjournment taken until this morning, when the committee revised the 1908 catalogue and put it in shape for printing.

The committee completed the racing program, and also decided to provide tents for the members of the ladies' clubs of the city, to be used as rest rooms during the fair.

A lease was entered into for the first floor of the old Sentinel building, and Secretary John T. Stinson will remove his office there May 1st.

The committee unanimously endorsed Howard Wood, a police officer, for marshal at the fair grounds during the 1908 fair.

This is the fourth year that Mr. Wood has been chosen for this responsible position, which, coupled with the excellent showing he made in Tuesday's election, when he fell behind only 74 votes against W. H. Boult, the present incumbent, attests his popularity.

Mr. Wood during his service at the fair grounds in past years, has added materially to maintaining order there, and his endorsement by the fair board again will meet with the hearty approval of every acquaintance.

THE TAX LEVY DEFEATED

JEFFERSON CITY WILL HAVE A SIX MONTHS' TERM OF PUBLIC SCHOOL.

WAS CUT DOWN FROM NINE MONTHS

Proposition Will Have to Be Submitted to People Again at a Special Election if a Full Term Is Wanted.

The defeat of the school levy in the school election last Tuesday means that Jefferson City will have a six months' school term next year, says the Jefferson City Democrat. This is the meaning of the vote.

The levy was the same as it has been in previous years, and the people have heretofore voted it. The levy asked for, and which has heretofore been voted, has been required by the schools. It has been necessary in order to conduct a nine months' term of school. The difference in the revenues cut off by the failure to authorize the usual levy will reduce the term of the public schools from nine to six months. It has been voted on every spring and it has heretofore carried.

Some people say that the voters did not understand the proposition. Those who are interested in the city schools are very much concerned over the outlook. For the capital of the state to have a six months' school is a thing that can not be thought of without mingled feelings of shame and regret.

Members of the school board who have been seen by the Democrat regret the result of the election exceedingly, but they are simply the representatives of the people and must bow to the will of the voters of the school district.

The public schools have been in an excellent condition ever since the erection of the new buildings, and we have been boasting of one of the finest school systems in the state.

Tuesday's election, however, will put us in the backwoods, so far as public education is concerned, will place our schools on a level, practically, with the remote rural districts, and probably result in cutting off our connection with the State University.

There is only one thing to do, if Jefferson City is to be pulled out of the hole. That is to call a special election and let the voters try it again. It may be that many of them did not understand what they were voting for. This, at any rate, is the most charitable supposition to be indulged at this time. We should hate to think that Jefferson City did this thing intentionally.

"The school board is willing to obey the mandates of the people," said Secretary Grimshaw, of the board of education, today. "The money they give us we will spend honestly and economically in the maintenance of the schools. This the board has done in the past, but if the people of Jefferson City want a six months' school which they stated in Tuesday's election, it is for them to say. It is up to the people."

ESCAPED AND CAPTURED

JOSEPH LASALA, WHO GOT OUT OF SING SING PRISON SUNDAY NIGHT.

THEN HE PAID A VISIT TO HIS WIFE

Was Seen by Detectives in Brooklyn, New York, and the Chase That Followed Was Sensational in the Extreme.

New York, April 9.—Having enjoyed a taste of liberty, Joseph Lasala, a convict, was on his way back to Sing Sing last night. Heavily manacled and in the custody of two keepers, Lasala accepted the situation philosophically. He said that he went back to prison with better grace now that the purpose of his escape, to visit his wife and infant son, had been accomplished. Before leaving the city Lasala gave the police an interesting account of how he escaped from the prison.

Lasala, who, since he was missed last Monday, had engaged the attention of the Italian members of the detective bureau, was recaptured in Brooklyn, but not until he had left several detectives, reinforced by two mounted police, a merry chase.

The Italian was convicted of highway robbery in this city, and last December was sent to Sing Sing for fourteen years. He stayed until Sunday night, and Monday was posted as missing. His cell mate denied any knowledge of Lasala's escape, and it had not been determined through what agency the leave taking had been possible.

Last night Lasala told the whole story. He said that at 6:20 o'clock Sunday night he stepped out of the mess line and into the blacksmith shop, where he lay concealed for some time. In the shop he said he found a plank with which he was enabled later to scale the prison wall. He made his way to the river, where he found a boat.

The boat was without oars, but he climbed into it and drifted down the stream. The boat took him to the wharf at Tarrytown, and there he boarded a train upon which he reached New York. He left the train at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station and made his way to his home.

Lasala eluded capture until late yesterday, when he was recognized and pointed out to the police. He fled and the detectives climbed on a street car going in the direction the fugitive had taken.

After several blocks the detectives, close upon their man, dropped off the car and made a rush for him, but Lasala dodged successfully and a moment later boarded the car the detectives had left. The car sped away and mounted police took up the chase.

In East New York the convict jumped off the car and the police horses were on his heels when he dashed through the open door of a private house and made his way to the rear. Over the fences he went, appearing presently on the opposite block.

The next time the officers saw him they threatened to shoot and did fire their weapons into the air. This action brought from the fleeing man the defiance: "Shoot away; get a cannon; I won't stop till you catch me." And he didn't.

STATE BANK CLOSED

St. Louis Institution With $350,000 Suspended This Morning.

St. Louis, Mo., April 9.—The Olive Street bank, of this city, a state institution with a capital of $100,000 and deposits of $350,000, closed its doors today. R. M. Cook, state bank examiner, who took charge, said:

"The bank officials have been unable to secure further endorsement for their loans, and for the safety of the institution we thought it best to take charge."

FAMOUS BANDMASTER HERE

Prof. Wm. Weil in Sedalia Interviewing State Fair Board.

Prof. Wm. Weil, conductor of Weil's band, of St. Louis, an organization which won lasting fame during the St. Louis exposition, was in the city today to negotiate with the state fair board with a view of securing an engagement for the band for the state fair.

If the negotiations are successful it will add a great drawing card to the fair, as the concerts given will undoubtedly cause many to attend who otherwise would not do so.

Leased to the Fair Board.

Frank F. Combs has leased to the Missouri state fair board the first floor of the old Sentinel building, southeast corner of Fourth street and Lamine avenue, and it will be the working home of Secretary John T. Stinson and his force of clerks on and after May 1. The location is a truly desirable one, and Mr. Stinson is to be congratulated on having secured the lease in question.

THE CHILDREN IN PANIC

FEAR OF BLACK HAND PLOT IS THE CAUSE OF ALL THE EXCITEMENT.

FRENZIED MOTHERS ARE TO BLAME

Two Fatally Hurt and Scores Trampled Upon in Newark, New Jersey, as Women Scream—Police to the Rescue.

Newark, N. J., April 9.—Two children were fatally hurt and scores of others were injured in a panic precipitated by their parents in the Seventh avenue public school last afternoon.

Frenzied by a rumor that the school was to be dynamited by members of the Black Hand society, the parents charged the building intent upon rescuing their children. Then the panic began.

Yesterday morning a rumor began to circulate that the school would be blown up during the day. Last afternoon about fifty women appeared at the school and demanded their children. Principal McLowery and the teachers assured the mothers that there was no cause for alarm and that the rumor of Black Hand plots was without foundation. The women left the school, but returned. They were so insistent upon seeking their children that the police department was appealed to.

Police Captain Brown, with twenty patrolmen, arrived at the school. Their arrival was all that was needed to complete the terror of the mothers. They stormed the building, fighting with the police.

There were soon about 200 women about the school, screaming with terror. Principal McLowery sounded the fire drill. The children were marching when one of them broke from line. This precipitated a panic and they all made a rush for the doors.

In a moment the stampede was general. By a hard fight the police finally succeeded in driving back the crazed women from the doors, and the scholars were rushed outside. In the rush Antiochette Ruglio and Attila Ciclerone, 11 years old, had been so badly injured that they were rushed to hospitals, where it is feared they will die.

Many fell down and were trampled upon. The mothers tried to go into the building at the same time, thus adding to the confusion. The presence of the police alone prevented scores from being killed. By heroic work the police managed to get the 1500 people out of the building.

News of the panic spread throughout the city, and in a few minutes more frantic women reinforced those whose fright had started the panic. Mothers ran over the pupils, seeking their own children. The entire police force was ordered to the school to quell the panic.

When rumors began to fly through the city incipient panics were caused in the Franklin and Wharton schools, but they were quickly quelled by the teachers. One boy, whose name is withheld by Principal McLowery, is held responsible for the entire trouble, he having circulated the stories concerning the Black Hand plot.

A number of Black Hand letters have been received by parents of the children during the last two weeks, and they were in a frame of mind needing only a wild rumor to cause them to stampede the school.

HE WEDS HIS SOUL MATE

ORIGINAL AFFINITY FINDER AND MISS KUTTNER ARE WED NEAR ROME.

FALLS HEIR TO CASH WHILE AWAY

His First Wife Fulfills Promise to Seek Separation That He Might Marry—The Case is a Most Remarkable One.

New York, April 9.—That Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the artist, who sent his wife to Europe last fall to get a divorce, has been freed by a decree of the French courts and has married Miss Julia Kuttner, his "soul mate," is the news carried in a cable message received in New York yesterday.

Earle, according to his message, is soon to appear in New York, coming on one of the North German Lloyd steamers. Members of his family admitted that he had been divorced and that he had married Miss Kuttner in Italy. That he was soon to be in New York, even if he is not now here, was also admitted.

At Miss Kuttner's home, No. 217 West Seventy-eighth street, it was said last night that Miss Kuttner was in the city.

Mrs. Earle No. 1 agreed to go to France and seek a divorce, when told by her husband that he had found his affinity. She persisted in her love for him, however. He was egged and threatened with hanging at Monroe, N. Y., when the announcement of the couple's intention was made.

Earle had not intended to return to New York before May 1, but the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Earle, of No. 12 East Fifty-seventh street, on March 13, makes necessary his appearance to claim the bequest of $50,000 she made to him.

By her will, he and his brothers are given this amount and share equally in the residue of the estate. Prior to his grandmother's death he had made frequent demands on his family for money, and, it is stated, had exhausted a large part of his ready funds.

Mrs. Earle, who prior to her marriage was Miss Emily Fischbacher, daughter of W. C. Fischbacher, a prominent publisher in Paris, was granted a decree of divorce in Paris two weeks ago. Earle making no defense, though he was represented by counsel. On the announcement that the decree had been issued, he declared his intention of returning to New York.

"I am going home," he announced, "to square certain matters. I have not been used right. I have been misrepresented. When I get to it I shall make public a statement that will show the American people I am right in this matter. Had Miss Kuttner and I been less honest this thing would not have occurred—I mean there would have been no talk about our case."

"I said last year that when Miss Kuttner returned to my home she would go there as my wife. We will be in Monroe shortly."

Victor M. Earle, brother of Ferdinand, last night declined to discuss the case in any way.

Mrs. Ferdinand P. Earle, Sr., could not be seen in her home at the Hotel Belle Claire last afternoon.

Henry Wellington Wack, of No. 42 Broadway, counsel in America for Mrs. F. P. Earle, Jr., said that he had not heard from his client in some days.

"There is nothing for me to say," he declared. "Mrs. Earle may or may not have secured a divorce. If it was granted it was in France."

At Miss Kuttner's home, No. 217 West Seventy-eighth street, last night, her brother said it was true that she had been married to Mr. Earle.

"It is nobody's business whether Mr. Earle is in New York or not," he said. "I won't say that he is or is not in this house now. But I will say that he is not in Monroe. That is all the family cares to say now."

"Your mother was in Europe not long ago; she saw your sister and Earle. Perhaps she would like to say something of the case?" was suggested.

"Mrs. Kuttner is not in, and if she was, she wouldn't say anything. That's all."

A moment later a tall man looked out of the window after the visitor had gone. Minus the long beard of last fall it bore a remarkable resemblance to Ferdinand P. Earle, Jr.

"AFTER MANY DAYS."

Many months ago this paper called attention to the condition of the paving at the mouth of the alley just north of the Democrat-Sentinel building, and urged the city authorities to repair it. Nothing was done in the matter, however, until this morning, when the work was commenced, continued and completed, and it took exactly two hours of one man's time.

In spite of the long wait, we are thankful that the outgoing officials are celebrating their retirement from office by this greatly needed improvement.

All of which admonishes us to remember the Scriptural injunction:
"Cast thy bread upon the waters:
for thou shalt find it after many days."

POOR OLD JEFF. CITY.

Jefferson City, the capital of the great state of Missouri, at its election Tuesday voted for a tax levy sufficient only for a six months' term of school each year. Such action is not only a reflection on the intelligence of the voters of the city, but gives the outside world a very poor idea of the progressiveness of the state itself. But what can be expected of a city, the seat of government of a great commonwealth, that never yet has been willing to support a first class, up to date newspaper?

As a matter of fact, it's the only capital city in the United States that hasn't a newspaper of strength and influence, and its action against a liberal public school appropriation is on a line with the same niggardly policy.

ROOSEVELT AND CONGRESS.

President Roosevelt does not expect that congress will pass all of the legislation he has recommended, but by again forcing his views on congress in concrete form, it will be more likely to attract the attention of the country than the former prolix message did. The president wants to be in a position to throw the blame on congress in case of democratic success at the coming election, and thus indicate that "me and my policies" is the only salvation of the much divided republicans.

Wall street believes that President Roosevelt has decided to "let up" on his radical plans against the railroads, and Senator Tillman, in his recent great speech in the United States senate, said:

"If the newspapers are to be believed, the president is even now planning a truce with the rich male-factors and is ready to grant amnesty to all past trust offenders. Organized labor is to be relieved from the prohibition of the supreme court's decisions, but along with it must go
the relief of capital. Once relieved, the malefactors of great wealth will smile in triumph over their victory, while labor will find itself no freer than before."

Then after exhorting his republican colleagues for bowing submissively to orders from the White House for fear they should fail to obtain the patronage of their states,
he declared:

"When clashes have come between the president and senators and representatives, the people have in almost every instance sided with the president. The people, poor, simple souls, reading the special pleas and sophistical excuses of republican editors, are led to think the president alone is honest and patriotic."

PRAIRIE STATES AND TREES.

If the young farmers and the children of the older farmers in the prairie states are during the later years of their lives to be supplied with cheap fence posts and cheap fuel, whether there is a car shortage on the railroads or not, there must be a great deal more attention paid to forest planting on the farm than there has been heretofore, says Wallace's Farmer.

There was considerable forest planting in these states in the early years of their settlement. The object then in view was not to secure post timber or building material or fuel, but to protect the farm houses and other buildings from the storms of the western winter.

Times change, and farmers must change with them. The forest tree planting in the west, small as it appears to be in comparison with the acreage, has done much to modify the severity of the winters, more than any one would think.

What is needed now is timber for fence posts, for fuel and for lumber, as well as protection against the blizzards and the heat of the summer.

A SHORT-SIGHTED MISTAKE.

How short-sighted and selfish our republican protectionist statesmen have been! They have thrown away the trade of half of the continent by making the tariff tax so high that Canada can only trade with us to a limited extent, and also refusing to moderate this protectionism by reciprocity. To protect herself from our trust products, Canada, very naturally, was compelled to raise a similar tariff wall.

The result is that the people of both countries are plundered by the high prices of products that under a tariff for revenue they could buy much cheaper.

Hon. William L. Douglas, of Massachusetts, in a late speech, declared that "the blighting tariff tax on raw materials has so checked the industrial growth of New England that great numbers of men are forced out of employment and forced to emigrate." Governor Douglas is an authority on economic conditions, and the republican standpatters have found no voice to reply to his speeches for tariff reform.

A Matter for Reflection.

"The editor of my paper," declared the newspaper business manager to a little coterie of friends in his office.
"is a peculiar genius. Why, would you believe it, when he draws his weekly salary he keeps out only one dollar for spending money and sends the rest to his wife in Indianapolis!"

His listeners—with one exception
—gave vent to loud murmurs of wonder and admiration. This exception sat silent, gazing reflectively at the ceiling.

"I know it sounds thin," added the speaker, addressing the reflective friend; "but it is true, nevertheless."
"Oh, I don't doubt it at all!" quickly rejoined the exception; "only I was wondering what he does with the dollar!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

THE "FAKER"

By RALPH PERKINS

(Copyright.)

Sober, he is one of the most interesting men I know. Unfortunately, he is only sober three days a week. When I ask him the reason he merely says he doesn't know. Yesterday, when I walked into the laboratory at the back of his little village shop, he was a hand of hope epitomized.

"There's something you'll like," he said, indicating a small bureau, old Spanish mahogany within, new satinwood veneer—so far unpollished—without. The veneer was inlaid with ebony lines and kingwood bands. The accuracy of the jointing was wonderful; the finish perfect.

"You must come in again when I've stained and polished it," he went on;
"and then you'll think it one of the best Queen Anne pieces extant."

"Don't your customers ever find you out?" I ask.

"Lord, no, sir! When you've pulled seventeenth-century furniture to pieces
all your life, and learned the things,
the tenons and mortises and the finish tell you, it's easy enough to get the right effect. The public haven't any judgment, and, for that matter, many of the London dealers aren't much better."

"But this veneer—so very new," I hazarded.

"Ah, wait until you see it toned down, and the drawers fitted with a set of old Boule handles and 'scutch-con' I've got by me, and a few little dents hammered here and there—especially about the feet, where they get kicked. You'll not know it then. See that little black knot I've left on the face of the third drawer? That knot will take in all Wardour street!"

He is always frank with me about his fakes. He seems to take a pride in being able to deceive a trained eye, and a satisfaction in explaining his dexterity.

I left the bureau, and began examining a hoary-looking oak settle, ratty with age.

"Looks ancient, doesn't it?" he observed.

"Looks! I wondered. 'Surely it's genuine?'"

He shook his head with a wise old smile. "It's as genuine as dilute nitric acid can make it. Oh, you needn't go by the panels. They're purposely warped with hot ammonia. The sun and rain do the rest—bleach it, you know."

"But the carving?" I argued. "It's almost effaced in places."

"It would be after half an hour with a sand-blast—a little thing of my own contrivance. The worm-holes I make with a very fine punch. Beginners use shot; but that's a clumsy way. Of course, the timber it's made of is old.
Bits of a Charles the First table mostly. The hinges are ordinary trade copies that have lain in the wet all summer and got nicely rusted; and if you were to draw the screws that hold them you'd find they were rusty, too,
and had no points. Those I filed off,
and then hammered the heads a bit."

"I didn't know you—treated metal
as well as timber," I admitted.

"Sometimes. See that fireback?"

I went to the corner indicated and scrutinized the fireback. As far as I could tell it was a beautiful specimen of hammer-work, bitten and worn by over two centuries of use, as its date, 1687, seemed to show.

"I bought a dozen of those of different dates from a man who makes them. They're only cast; but after they've had a bonfire over them in my yard for a week or two they get soft and look right enough, don't they?"

I admitted that they did, flinching
a bit, though, at the adjective he used.

"There's a regular trade between the manufacturers of faked antiques and the country dealers—more than with the London ones. Why? Well, the manufacturers have discovered that people go into the country districts now hunting for antiques. They think the things they pick up there must be genuine. The simple countryman inspires confidence! There's nothing hardly that can't be imitated," he went on. "It's merely a question of time—and skill, of course, and it's only by accident—or talking, as I'm doing —that the fact's discovered. But when a man knows he can take in an expert it's difficult for him to keep it to himself. That is, if he's got a sense of humor. Do you think that Syrian gold-work they had at the Louvre would have been known as a forgery if somebody hadn't talked?
No, indeed! There's china now. People always think it's above suspicion;
but you just look at those two china cows on the shelf there. One's genuine old Stafford—the other isn't. Can you tell the difference?"

I used a pocket magnifying glass this time; but at the end of several minutes I came to the conclusion that they were identical, and said so.

"I gave 50 cents for the imitation
one, but I can't tell which of them
now," he admitted.

"And the selling price?" I inquired.
"Twenty-five dollars each. One of them's worth that. After all, it doesn't really matter, for there's no difference between them intrinsically."

His ethics are summed up in that observation. Given perfect workmanship and material, he argues that if the imitation is as good as the original, there is no dishonesty in selling it as such. He has a supreme contempt for the indifferent craftsman.
A flaw in his own work will condemn

it. It must be above suspicion before it leaves his workshop.

He knows everything there is to know about furniture, faience, tapestry, pewter, Jacobean glass, Adams'
brass-work, colored prints, old Sheffield plate, and a hundred other things.
His shop is full of them. He buys most of them from the surrounding farmers, who are ignorant of their value;
and his profits go in old brandy. Some of it is as antique as his goods.

"If I were like some of them," he resumes, "I might have made a mint of money. I've seen the trend of public taste for 50 years—and always been able to anticipate it. When people lived with heavy Victorian mahogany I laid in a little stock of Sheraton and Chippendale. When they changed from that, I was ready for them with Hepplewhite and Adam. I foresaw the craze for Empire things, and now—well, I'll tell you something, and you can go away and make money out of it. The curio-hunters will be running after Italian furniture next. Not quintecento stuff—it's not sufficiently comfortable; but Venetian chairs of carved walnut—the semi-circular shape—upholstered in old rose and gold brocade. And they'll want Italian walnut paneling with the fine, simple pattern in relief, and Della Robbia ware to go with it. Lord! If they would only walk down the long carved-wood gallery at the South Kensington museum! It's there for those who have eyes to see!"

He paused for a moment. "And I can make it all just as well—and you couldn't tell the difference!"

He does not leave off working while he talks. That would be an extravagance, with only three working days in his week. Just then he was fret-sawing the yellow ivory keys of some ancient piano into suitable shapes whereby to inlay a little brand-new ebony table that presently will appeal to some connoisseur as a perfect specimen of the cabinet-making of the period of Louis XVI. I ask concerning its future.

"I shall probably keep it some months," he says, "until some London
dealers have made me offers for it.
They often come down to pick up bargains," he chuckles. "After they've nibbled, I shall put it into a farmhouse sale of sufficient importance for the catalogues to be sent up to town.
Then they'll come down and bid against one another for it, and somebody will ultimately buy it for double or treble the amount he first offered me. Do you know," he pursues, "that antiques—or my equivalents—fetch more at a sale of a yeoman's property in the country than would be given for them at Christie's? Strange, isn't it?"

And in a London paper recently I read a discussion on the question—
"Are country people dull?"

The Devil's Bible.

This wonderful volume is in the royal library of the royal palace of Sweden. It is a huge copy of the Bible written on 300 prepared asses' skins.
One tradition says that it took 500 years to complete this copy, which is so large that it has a table by itself.
Another tradition asserts that it was done in a single night, owing to the assistance of his satanic majesty, who when the work was completed gave the monk a portrait of himself for a frontispiece.

However true this may be, there can still be found the illuminated likeness of the King of Darkness adorning the front page of the work. This book was carried off by the Swedes, during the Thirty Years' war, from a convent in Prague.—Sunday Magazine.

ROMANCE OF EARLY LIFE

Made a Recluse of Dr. St. John, Now Dead of Old Age.

Tiffin, O., April 9.—Tiffin's reclusive druggist and man of mystery, Dr. J.
L. St. John, died yesterday of old age. Dr. St. John had until 1905 been in the retail drug and wholesale proprietary medicine business in this city for over seventy years. During all of that time he lived the life of a hermit, never married and made few friends, although he amassed a fortune. He was never known to disclose his age, but he was close to a hundred.

Born in Schenectady, N. Y., he came to Tiffin soon after the place was laid out, and at the time of his death was its oldest inhabitant. His only surviving relatives are several nieces and nephews residing in distant states, who will inherit his fortune. It is said that an early romance, shattered by a tragedy, drove Dr. St. John to avoid all society. According to the story, his fiancée lost her life in a burning building while he stood powerless to save her. Afterwards he sought a new home in the then far west.

'YOURS TRULY' ON CHECK

LOVELY WOMAN AND HER BANK ACCOUNT CAUSES LOTS OF TROUBLE.

THE TELLER UNBURDENS HIS MIND

Tells of Certain Idiosyncrasies of the Gentler Sex—Ten Blank Checks, Hence Account Not Overdrawn.

"Ninety-nine women out of every hundred were never cut out for business and if any of you ever worked in a bank you'd realize it."

The young bank clerk's eyes challenged every man at the luncheon table as he dug his knife savagely into the butter to emphasize his words, says a writer in the Kansas City Journal. Sympathetic smiles encouraged him and he continued.

"What do you think of a woman who would write out checks to 'My Washwoman,' 'Dora,' 'Louise' or 'Brother Charles,' and the other members of her household and signs herself 'Yours Truly?' You would swear she was crazy—that is if you had never been around a bank—and yet some woman does that trick every day of the world. I got a brand new specimen of a check this morning, though, that beat even the 'Dora' and 'Louise' bunch. It read: 'Pay to Me—Whatever I have left.' Oh, of course you fellows think it is very funny, but if you were a bank teller for a day you'd persuade your friends to open up a banking school for women."

"The woman who asked us to pay to her whatever she had left didn't cause us half as much trouble as the woman who overdraws her account, for overdrawing is a fault of which nearly all women are guilty, and for which we get all the blame."

One day a woman came in furiously mad because we had returned one of her checks. She couldn't understand how she could have overdrawn her account when she still had ten checks left in her checkbook. It took many minutes to explain to the poor little stupid the mysteries of bank accounts, and even then she was grieved to think that the bank wouldn't trust her for such a little amount.

"During a run on one of the banks in the east, an excited, nervous little lady waited a half day in the long line of people that reached to the paying teller's window. Almost exhausted she asked for whatever she had left. They looked up her account. She had overdrawn $4.91."

"And that reminds me of something that happened to me right here in Kansas City during the recent flurry. A little old lady came in one day and asked for her $25 she had put in a few days before. I counted out five new bills. She seemed contented and happy when she had looked them over carefully, and she handed them back to me."

"It's all there," she said sweetly. "I just wanted to see if the bank was all right. Thank you."

"Another woman with an account of several hundred dollars drew it all one day. She walked down the street, bought a safety deposit box and put her money in it. In a few days she was back again at our bank with herwad of greenbacks. Of course I was curious."

"What's the matter—did you decide that the bank was safe after all?" I asked.

"Just about as safe as anywhere else," was the reply. "You see I rented that safety deposit box all right, as I told you I would, and put my money in. The next afternoon I happened to be down town and I just thought I'd stop in and have a look at my money. It was there all right. I took it out and counted it, then I looked up my box and went home. The next morning the company telephoned me to come down. When I arrived they handed me a small package of lace with my name and address on the outside and this roll of bills. I knew I had lost the lace, but the money was a mystery. I protested that there must be some mistake as I had locked my money up when I left. They smiled indulgently and had me open my locked box. It was absolutely empty. An honest janitor had found it."

"I know every man at this table can believe that story and could tell one better about woman's carelessness."

"Widows who have been looked after by their husbands for years and find themselves confronted with the mysteries of banking and business are usually pretty hard to handle. One day a lady in deep mourning, after opening up an account, was handed a brown check book with a pad of orange colored checks. She looked at the teller in amazement. 'I can't use those, possibly. Don't you see I'm in mourning and must

SEE ONLY RED AND YELLOW.

These the Dream Colors, According to Dr. Havelock Ellis.

Red and yellow are the dream colors if Dr. Havelock Ellis is right. No other hues come to the dreamer of dreams. Simpoth has declared that red is the most primitive of colors, and long ago protoplasm from which human beings derived their origin on the new earth probably responded to or was affected by red color waves.

In the depth of the sea the algae or sea weed are red. With the savage red is the favorite color, and for a bright piece of red calico African savages gladly would give valuable elephant tusks.

Red strikes the note of intense emotions. It is the color of joy, exultation, jubilation. Savages paint themselves red, and rejoice at seeing each other in burning hues. German women of the early ages daubed their bodies with brilliant red and yellow, and considered themselves must beautifully adorned.

On sacred festivals in Rome and Greece Pliny records red was smeared over the statues of Jupiter, and was the color of religious rejoicing. The human eyes, it is said, can distinguish 100,000 different hues or colors, and can appreciate and differentiate 20 shades of each hue. In other words, the eye is capable of 2,000,000 color impressions.

SHORT SERMON ON INNUENDO.

French Philosopher's Condemnation of Unworthy Action.

We would not wish to tarnish a man of character or ruin his fortune by dishonoring him in the world; to stain the principles of a woman's conduct by entering into the essential points of it; that would be too infamous and mean; but upon a thousand faults which lead our judgment to believe them capable of all the rest; to inspire the mind of those who listen to us with a thousand suspicions which point out what we dare not say; to make satirical remarks which discover a mystery, where no person before had perceived the least intention of concealment; by poisonous interpretations, to give an air of ridicule to manners which had hitherto escaped observation; to let everything, on certain points, be clearly understood, while protesting that they are incapable themselves of cunning or deceit, is what the world makes little scruple of.—Jean Baptiste Massillon.

have everything in black and white. You don't have black bordered checks, do you, for widows? No. Well, then, give me a black and white check pad and black book. Luckily for us we could meet her requirement. You see some women are so fussy they demand bank and check books to match their gowns and we have red, brown, blue, black and green. Then we have pale pink checks, pale green, pale blue and heaven knows what all, just to please the ladies. At most of the banks, too, they give their lady patrons new money only because women don't like "horrid, dirty bills." If those women only knew if those new bills are mighty hard on new gloves because the fresh ink rubs off.

"Women are particular, too, as to the way in which money is paid to them. If she presents a check for $20, and you give her one ten, one five and the rest in small bills, she will probably hand it all back to you while she stops to figure with a line of a dozen people behind her. 'Let me see—$5 for Susan—45 cents to Mrs. Jones, $2 for the butter man, $2 to the iceman, $10 to my seamstress and a dollar for—well, does that make

"I believe women bank just for the sheer joy of banking. It's an all important day for them when they come in to open up an account. They think that they can open up an account with $10 or $15. One woman came in the other day with a small bill and demanded 'One of the largest check books you have, please.' She was insulted when we told her that her little bill wouldn't even pay for the bookkeeping necessary to take care of it.

"No debt is so small that a woman won't pay for it with a check. It is nothing to have to cash a check for 35 or 50 cents that some woman has given to another woman for a small debt, and most women I believe would pay their car fare with checks if they could."

"But then the dear ladies must have somewhere to bank and the patronage of many is much to be desired so the bank caters to them. The stocking room was a great innovation in banking business and it originated right here in Kansas City. It has saved loads of embarrassment and has been adopted in nearly every city. And the ladies' teller, well he was an innovation, too. He really shouldn't tell state secrets, but then when the heart is full—"

Planning to Surprise Spouse Finds She Has Another Husband.

Evansville, Ind., April 9.—John Lawrence, a soldier in the regular army, returned here only to find his wife married to a man named Hall. Lawrence was married to her at Petersburg, Ind., seven years ago, went at once to the front and for the past five years had not written to her. She had lived all the while in Evansville.

When Lawrence came home he planned to surprise his wife, and was himself surprised.

"Why, I had not heard from you all these years," said Mrs. Hall, "and thought you had been killed or died."

Lawrence will sue for a divorce at once. The county authorities say that they will not prosecute Mrs. Hall on a charge of bigamy as she married Hall with the impression that Lawrence was dead.

DOCTOR HELD FOR MURDER

Prominent Physician Shot Man for Singing in Street.

St. Louis, April 9.—Dr. Engerhardt Voerster, Jr., formerly chief physician at the city dispensary, and one of the most prominent physicians in the city, was arrested late last night, charged with the killing of Reese Bell, a paperhanger, 25 years old, early Sunday morning. Dr. Voerster's father was coroner of St. Louis county for three terms.

Bell was killed while escorting a woman and two of her daughters from a party. Bell was singing as he walked along and met a man and woman.

The man remarking that the singing was "rotten," Bell retorted that the man's companion had a voice like a mad lark.

Her companion whipped out a revolver and shot Bell in the head.

FLATTERY NOT IN HIS LINE.

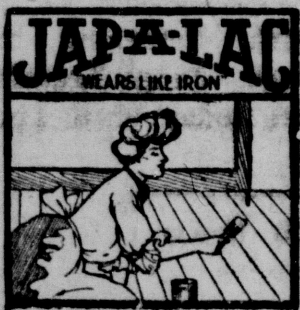

Where Mr. Spooner Lost Out for Ever with Miss Flutterby.

"That's a portrait of your grandmother, as she looked when she was a young lady, is it. How strongly it resembles you, Miss Flutterby."

"You say that only to flatter me, Mr. Spooner. Grandma was quite a beauty and everybody knows that I make no pretensions of that kind."

"I assure you that flattery is far from my thought, Miss Flutterby. The family resemblance is striking. I've often known cases of that kind. There were two sisters I was acquainted with when I was a boy. They looked wonderfully alike, just as that portrait looks like you, and yet one of them was as beautiful as a poet's dream and the other was dreadfully—that is, I mean, she wasn't at all—or rather she was lacking in that attractive quality, you know, that constitutes what a lovely frame this portrait has, hasn't it?"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

The Bitter Truth.

Diogenes slowly entered the pawnshop and placed his lantern on the counter.

"What can I get for this?" he asked. The pawnbroker picked up the lantern and examined it curiously.

"Rather antique pattern," he commented. "What do you consider it worth?"

Diogenes bowed his head, the humiliation of centuries upon him.

"Nothing," he bitterly admitted. "Nothing at all."—Bohemian.

TOT CONVICTS A FATHER

LITTLE BOY TELLS COURT HOW MOTHER WAS KILLED BY HIS PAPA.

A SENTENCE TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Convicted Man Is Clarence Hayes, a Glassblower at Alton, Illinois, Who While Drunk Shot and Killed His Spouse.

Alton, Ill., April 9.—Clarence Hayes, the Alton glassblower, who shot and killed his wife two months ago while drunk, was sentenced to life imprisonment. Hayes pleaded guilty and Judge R. D. W. Holder passed the sentence.

Hayes' 7-year-old son told the story of the shooting to the judge, and this was the most effective evidence given.

The boy said he was sitting with his "mamma" when his "papa" came in, and, without saying anything, drew a revolver from his pocket and fired the fatal shot.

After hearing this story Judge Holder did not care for more evidence.

Hayes trembled and wept during the hearing, but made no comment after sentence had been pronounced.

He at once commenced, however, a fight to attempt to retain partial control of his children. These had been given by the county court into the hands of his wife's relatives.

Hayes procured a writ of habeas corpus to place the children with his own brother. The officer to whom the writ was delivered demanded of State Attorney J. F. Gillham information as to the whereabouts of the children, who had been hurried from the court room. The state attorney declined to tell.

Fine Prescription for Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble—Mix at Home—Don't Cost Much—Relieves Every Person Who Tries It.

A large New York health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles receives the greatest praise, viz: Fluid Extract Dandelion—one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic affections, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings.

A well known local druggist states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongelike organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, which is the cause of rheumatism.

Cut this out and hand to some sufferer, which would certainly be an act of humanity.

ANTI-RACING BILL LOST

THE AX FAILS TO FALL ON MEASURE IN THE NEW YORK STATE SENATE.

WERE 25 FOR AND 25 AGAINST

Accusations of Bribery and Detention Mark Session of Albany Legislature—A Hard Blow to Governor Hughes.

Albany, N. Y., April 9.—The anti-gambling race track bill was killed in the senate late last afternoon. The vote was a tie, 25 to 25. As the lieutenant governor, who is the presiding officer of the senate, cannot cast the deciding vote on a bill, the measure advocated by Governor Hughes to end betting on the turf in this state was consequently defeated.

Twenty-six votes were necessary to pass the act, and that number had been claimed by Senators Raines and Agnew, who led the anti-gambling forces.

The racing men had declared all during the day's session of the senate that they would have at least twenty-five votes, and they made good their prediction. Fuller and Taylor, democrats, voted with the Hughes forces for the bill, while Burr, Emerson, Gilchrist, Cassidy, Wemple, Grattan, Knapp and Wilcox, republicans, cast their ballots with the racing contingent and against the bill.

While Lieutenant Governor Chandler has no vote on the final passage of a bill, he can vote on a motion. He asked the roll call on the Raines motion made early in the fight, to lay the bill on the table. It resulted in a tie, as did the roll call on the motion to pass the bill. The lieutenant governor, therefore, cast the deciding vote in favor of the Raines motion, so that it was carried by a vote of 26 to 25.

This means that Senator Agnew can call up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill failed to pass at any time. He must give such notice within three days. He said last evening that he would give his notice today.

Governor Hughes was deeply chagrined when told of the failure of the measure to pass. He said he had no comment to make at this time.

Senator McCarren and the race track men were jubilant at the result of the vote. "The bill is dead," said McCarren, "and will not be resurrected. An extra session would not make any difference, but I don't believe there will be one. The governor has been beaten."

Kidnaping was added to the acts charged to the race track men in the efforts to defeat the bills. The reformers made the charge, and Senator Francher was held up as the victim.

While the racing contingent was claiming Grattan, Knapp, Cassidy and Wilcox as sure converts to their cause, whose votes would at least insure a tie vote and the consequent defeat of the bill, the reformers were thrown into a panic by the discovery that Francher, who was one of their own, was absent from the senate.

Scouts were sent out to hunt up the missing man, but no trace of him could be found, and Republican Leader Raines, desperate and with defeat staring him in the face, forced a recess, while Grady, for the racing men, was working for an immediate vote.

A searching force was sent in all directions and while the search was hottest Francher suddenly appeared at the capitol. He was surrounded by the joyful reformers and told them a most extraordinary story. Some of the unusual features pointed to a desperate attempt to delay the senator during the consideration of the race track bill.

The senator would not enter into details for publication, but strongly intimated that the opposition had resorted to measures that had been found effective many years ago, when the lobby organized entertainment committees to engage the attention of legislators whose presence in either body was inimical to its interests.

GREAT CONDUCTOR HAD HUMOR.

Witty and Genial Remarks Credited to Dr. Hans Richter.

Countless are the stories of the geniality of Dr. Hans Richter, the famous musician. While rehearsing a Mozart symphony in which the first violins had a number of delicate trills and turns to perform, these were played too heavily for Richter, who said:

"Please, gentlemen, pianissimo! Queen Mab—not sufragettes."

Again, when on one occasion Richter was not thoroughly satisfied with the orchestra rendering of a scene from "Tristan and Isolde," he stopped the rehearsal and asked for more dignity in the playing, adding that Isolde was the daughter of a king, not of a cook. On another occasion, while rehearsing Tchaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" music, the violoncellos had a very passionate melody to play. Richter was by no means satisfied that the needful warmth of expression had been obtained.

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," said he, "you all play like married men, not lovers."

New York Preacher's Novel Scheme to Draw Congregation.

A preacher in a college town in New York state recently decided that the best way to increase the attendance at his church was to advertise. So he took up a part of the paper in his town with a small display got up not unlike a theater advertisement.

"How long since you have been to church?" was the first line in black interrogation. "Better go to-morrow," was the next line. "Try the First," continued the advertisement, mentioning the name of a denomination that is not essential in the context.

Then followed the subjects for the morning and evening sermons.

The pastor had designated for the evening sermon, "Boyville," and he invited for the purpose of hearing what he had to say. "All boys, all who once were boys, all who dislike boys and all who like them."

LION TAMER TALKS OF PETS.

Timid Animals Less to His Liking
Than the Pugnacious Ones.

A lion tamer, over his midnight supper, talked shop.

"The timid lion is the only one. I fear," he said. "The fierce, pugnacious lion is my joy. What a show
he gives the people for their money!"

Growing hideously, wrinkling his great face in dreadful snarls, gnashing his teeth and threatening to strike me with his paw, he goes through his tricks, and the audience is held in a delicious suspense, half hoping, half fearing, that the big brute will chew me up before their eyes.

"Yes, the fierce lion assures a fine attractive turn. But the timid one!

"The timid lion, just when you want to give your best show, will whimper
with terror at the crack of the whip, and sink off to the farthest corner of the cage, and turning its back to you,
lie down and bury its face in its paws.
Gehenna!

"But, say, do you know what I've been known to do? I've been known to dope up timid lions. Yes, sir, doped them up till they were maniacal.
That's dangerous, too. Batty like that, they might do for you."

Mother." Matinee Saturday and Sunday.

At Wood's Opera House.

The final production of "The Man in the Overall" was given by the Dorothy Stock Co. Wednesday night to a fair sized but very enthusiastic audience. A pretty feature last night was the striking or clearing of the stage of all scenery and then resetting it in full view of the audience and this feature proved a revelation
to the people in the art of stagecraft, the entire setting being cleared and reset in a little over three minutes, actual time. Tomorrow, Friday, beginning at 12 m. sharp and up to 3
p. m. sharp, any seat in Wood's opera house will be sold for the small sum of 10 cents to any person, regardless of age or size.

Photography.

Practical photography first saw the light in 1839. On February 21 of that year Talbot, who had obtained permanent prints and camera images as early as 1835, published his process.
Daguerre's was published on August 19, and somewhere between those two dates Ponton, in a paper read at the Royal Scottish Society of Arts, made known to the world his discovery that soluble organic matter, in the presence of an alkaline bichromate, was rendered insoluble by exposure to light
—a discovery the value of which was not recognized for some years, but which is the basis of all that is included in "process work."—New York

SALOONS "BARRED" OUT

CLAIM IS MADE THAT THE WAR ON LIQUOR IS JUST BE-GUN IN ILLINOIS.

1084 PLACES CLOSED ON TUESDAY

State Now Half Prohibition With Total of Forty-Six Counties Booze-less—928 Townships Out of 1,352 Already Dry.

St. Louis, Mo., April 9.—With twenty-seven counties of Illinois placed in the "dry" column by Tuesday's election, thirty-six of the state's 102 counties are now totally dry.

Nine counties went "dry" last November. In addition, there are now nineteen other counties that are anti-saloon with the exception of one township in each.

According to the latest returns, 928 townships cast their votes against saloons and 202 townships in favor of retaining drinkshops.

The total number of "dry" townships in the state, including those that held elections last November, is now 1,028; and the total of "wet" townships 323.

The most reliable estimates placed the number of saloons voted out of business Tuesday at 1,084, and the net antisaloon majorities cast in the entire territory voting at 28,000. In all, eighty-four counties held elections Tuesday, and in that territory
it is estimated that there are now 1,500 saloons.

The result of the elections will compel more than one-third of this number of saloons to quit business within thirty days.

That the result of the local option vote has drawn the lines for a furious struggle between the prohibitionists
and the liquor forces for the control of the state legislature was the declaration made by Alonzo E. Wilson, chairman of the state prohibition committee. He declared that the "dry" victories at the polls Tuesday were only the beginning of the troubles of the saloon interests, and that the fight is bound to be carried into the legislature, the prohibitionists
fighting for a state prohibition law,
their opponents striving for the re-tal of the Sunday-closing statute and a modification of the present local-option law.

Returns received at the state headquarters of the Illinois Antisaloon League and at the headquarters of the Illinois Brewers' association show that the following counties have gone
dry in every township:

Macon, Fayette, Green, Brown,
Shelby, Dewitt. Nearly every township went dry in Sangamon county, except the capital and New Berlin. In Christian county all but one township, Assumption, with two saloons, went dry; in Nelson county all except the town of Grafton.

The smaller cities and towns that went dry include Mason City, Pittsfield, Carrollton, St. Charles, Oregon, Belvidere, Plainfield, Brighton, Bunker Hill, Newell, Girard, Chesterfield, Leroy, Colfax, Lexington, Danvers, Easton, Edinburg, Middletown, Maroa, Shippen, Forest City, Kilbourne, Jerseyville, Taylorville, Edinboro, Elkhart, Pana, Vandalia, Morris and Wheaton. Chatham, St. Elmo, Menton, San Jose, Bath, Pleasant
Plains, Riverton, Natic, Diverson.

Returns received at the Southern Illinois headquarters of the Illinois Antisaloon League at Duquoin, Ill., indicated that 124 of the 128 southern townships that voted Tuesday on the local-option question have been carried by the antisaloon element. The 128 townships represent eleven counties.

Romance in Cement.

There is much of the romance in the development of the "cement belt" from a farm land, none too rich at that, to a teeming valley filled with laborers, skilled and unskilled. Farmers who for years barely succeeded in making enough from their farms to meet the mortgage interest suddenly found themselves rich beyond the most extraordinary flights of their imagination. Barren, rocky soil, upon which the wild carrot, the goldenrod and the Canada thistle were the most prolific crops, and where the tiller of the soil more frequently than not damned the rocks which were to prove his fortune, suddenly became worth hundreds of dollars an acre.—

VAL. LACES

Resulting from the greatest single purchase of Val Lace we have ever made On Sale for One Week Beginning FRIDAY

As an example of how this store does big things, this purchase consists of over 18,000 yards of Val laces alone. The other laces here advertised number about 7, 000 yards each. The quantity secured the price, and because there is so much of it the sale will be for one week instead of for just a day, partly because no selling however strenuous could close the lot in a day, and chiefly because we want this opportunity to benefit our out-of-town friends, too.

You know the many uses of Val laces. There is practically no article of raiment
a woman, miss or child possesses upon which Val lace is not used.

There are the much-wanted
German and French varieties—edges and insertions that match perfectly. Here is an unusual chance to lay in a supply of these laces that thrifty mothers and shoppers will certainly take advantage of—at once.

Just another one of those money-saving opportunities that this store creates continually and only learned of through careful watchful-ness of our daily advertise-

EXPULSION OVER 300 STUDENTS

Clemson College Faculty Object to the Night Shirt Parade.

Columbia, S. C., April 9.—It was announced at chapel services at Clemson college that 257 members of the sophomore and freshmen classes had been dismissed, in addition to the forty-eight juniors expelled on Friday last.

This probably is the most wholesale expulsion in the history of the United States. The cause alleged was in subordination in an April fool prank.

At the time of the last commencement there was trouble at a similar nature with the senior class, over a night parade, and Captain C. M. Clay, U. S. A., the commandant resigned.

TO SCAN HELIE'S RECORD

George Gould Has Asked Paris Police for Information.

New York, April 9.—It was learned yesterday that George Gould had caused one of his attorneys to cable to the head of the police department of Paris for details of any record they may have of Prince de Sagan.

It is believed that he has in view alleged misdeeds in connection with the forging of the name of Max Le baudy, an eccentric Paris millionaire, who was known as the "sugar bowl," from the ease with which he could be swindled.

Various stories of Prince Helie's connection with Lebaudy's financial troubles have reached this country from time to time. George Gould hopes to prove, it is said, that Helie was connected with three forgeries and that he served time in prison on account of them.

Whatever proofs his detectives obtain will be put before Mme. Gould in the strongest possible light in the hope that she will throw over the titled foreigner.

ST. LOUIS STILL ON MAP

THIS, TOO, DESPITE THE PROPHECY OF JOHN MOSS, THE "BOY PREACHER."

IS WICKEDEST CITY IN THE WORLD

In Fact, Moss Says St. Louis is Plague Spot of the Universe and That it is Worse Than New York or Paris.

St. Louis, April 9.—St. Louis is still on the map and wagging along with the rest of the world, despite the prediction of an evangelist that the metropolis of the Mississippi would be wiped out by earthquakes, cyclones, fire and flame during the present week.

John Moss, known as the "boy preacher," was the author of the dire foreboding as to the fate of St. Louis, which he has branded as "the wickedest city in the world."

Many of Moss' followers fled from the city, but are now returning, with their confidence in the ability of the "boy preacher" as a prophet considerably diminished.

Moss admits that he may have made a mistake in his calculations, but insists that St. Louis will soon lie in ruins and that its destruction will herald the end of the world. Moss declares that St. Louis is the plague spot of the universe and that it is worse than New York, Paris, Chicago or San Francisco.

WOMEN CLEAN UP CITY

Public Schools Give Holiday and Children Join in Crusade.

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9.—Vexed at the city officials for not ordering the city cleaned of rubbish, the women of Pine Bluff organized a "City Beautiful" club, called upon the city officers for co-operation and set aside one day for cleaning day.

Such a strong sentiment was aroused that the public schools gave a holiday in order that the pupils might assist, and throughout the city everyone went to work and cleaned yards and alleys and piled rubbish in heaps to be hauled away, while throughout the city bonfires burned the trash which could be destroyed.

IT WILL BE A GREAT DAY

THE CELEBRATION OF CLEAN-UP DAY IN SEDALIA TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

TO BE HELD AT THE COURT HOUSE

At the Conclusion of the Exercises There Will Be a Parade, the Ladies Being Taken Over City in Automobiles.

Further arrangements were perfected yesterday afternoon by the civic department of the women's clubs of the city for the proper celebration at the court house, Friday afternoon, of the general clean-up of the city on that day, under the auspices of the women.

A feature of the celebration will be the singing of a chorus of 1,000 school children, under the supervision of Mrs. Harvey MacGugin.

The exercises will begin at the court house promptly at 3 o'clock, and all who possibly can are urged to be present.

The Sedalia Military band will be stationed on the court house balcony, and the school children will be ranged on either side of the walk leading from the street to the court house.

Following the exercises at the court house there will be a parade. Every citizen who has a horse and vehicle is asked to take part in this parade and to have the vehicle decorated in red, white and blue.

It is hoped that the city authorities will give permission for a platoon of police to head the parade. There will be nineteen automobiles in line carrying the members of the committees of the various clubs.

Mrs. A. J. Tucker is chairman of the committee on parade, with the privilege of selecting her assistants. The autos will be numbered and each member of the various club committees will be given a number corresponding to that of the auto in which she will ride.

The public schools will be dismissed for the afternoon, so that the teachers and pupils can attend the celebration.

The trash cans which the club women of Sedalia purchased for the use of the city have arrived and will be placed on the streets Friday morning.

THE SHORES OF LAKE WINNEBAGO

This is the Scene of the Conference, Which Has for Its Purpose the Perpetuation of Ancient Customs.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 9.—For the first time in a century the scattered remnants of the Six Nations, the powerful Indian tribes which inhabited New England in colonial days, are holding a general council.

Quinney, an Indian settlement on the shores of Lake Winnebago, is the scene of the conference, which has for its purpose the perpetuation of the ancient forms and customs of the Six Nations.

Delegates are in attendance from many states. Historians of the tribe have been busy for months in preparing elaborate accounts of the prowess of their ancestors, with which to regale the assembled redskins.

The wanderings and the trials and tribulations of the tribe since it was driven from its New England home will be recounted for the benefit of the younger generation.

"ROT," SAYS MISS MARLOWE

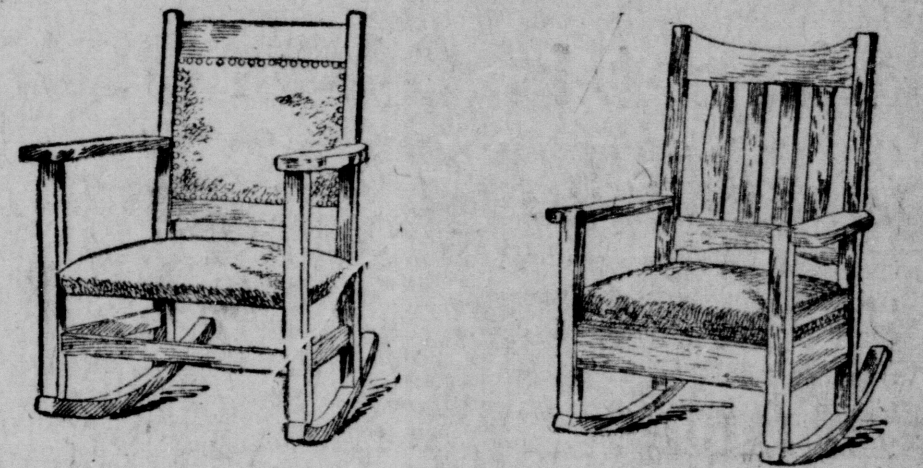

Leading Man Says Suit of Dramatic Critic's Wife Bid for Notoriety.

New York, April 9.—Much mystery surrounds the suit for absolute divorce begun by Mrs. Clara Louise Von Herman, of Salem, Mass., against her husband, Karl Steven Von Herman, dramatic critic and author, in which Julia Marlow and Mrs. Maud Thornburn Backus, of Flatbush, are named as co-respondents.

Mrs. Backus declared positively yesterday that she does not know Von Herman at all, while she only knows Miss Marlow as a "prominent actress."

From Lynn, where Mrs. Von Herman is, the information comes that

Mrs. Von Herman declines to talk about her action unless she is paid for her story, while to those who sought pictures of her she declared she would pose, "if compensated" for such work.

Up in Hamilton, Ont., where Miss Marlow is playing, she laughed when asked about the suit.

"Oh, I guess it's all rot," was all she would say. She absolutely declined to declare whether she would oppose the suit, when it comes up for trial.

Her leading man when interviewed, said: "This is a miserable attempt on the part of some one to get cheap notoriety. We will pay no attention to this matter and Miss Marlow will not bother about it."

The defendant in the case were Hurler & Seaman. Miss Lee and her husband, Charles P. Morrison, were engaged for a season of musical com-

THE WORKERS IN COTTON

EIGHTY-FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

TO BE MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS

Membership Consists of Those Who Are Connected With Cotton Manufacturing Either Directly or Indirectly.

Boston, April 9.—Preparations are being completed for the eighty-fourth annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, which will begin its sessions at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology a week from today.

Many important matters are to be considered, including the preservation of forests, a matter affecting the water supply of cotton mills; cotton cultivation in Egypt and West Africa, and technical discussions of the arts of cotton weaving and spinning. The decision of the Farmers' Union to reduce the cotton acreage will also come up for consideration.

The capital stock of the various textile mills, print works and bleacheries with which the members of the association are connected amounts to $334,511,700. This does not include the surplus of such establishments.

These mills have 17,157,637 spindles, 1,472 sets of woolen and worsted cards, 5,849 knitting machines and 67 printing machines.

The amount of capital in the affiliated industries of cotton cloth, cotton, textile machinery, supplies, etc., represented by them in the association membership amounts to $409,075,000 as nearly as can be ascertained from annual reports, mercantile agencies, and other sources of information, making the whole capital represented by the membership of the association $734,586,700.

The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers was fundamentally established in 1854 as the Hampden County Cotton Spinners' association, which, outgrowing the local limitations suggested by its name, became in 1865 the New England Cotton Manufacturers' association, and like reasons caused the change to the present name in 1906. It was incorporated in 1892.

The present organization has become more than national in its scope, having nearly 1,000 members distributed throughout all the cotton manufacturing districts of the United States and also in foreign countries.

This membership consists of those who are devoted to matters connected with cotton manufacturing either directly or in its subsidiary lines. About half of its membership consists of persons primarily engaged in the financial side of cotton manufacturing, and the remainder are occupied with the technical side of the manufacture of cotton, although the interests of both are so closely connected together as to prevent any line of separation in their interests upon matters within the scope of this organization.

THE SHORTEST ODD FELLOW

Only 36 Inches in Height and Disputes Another's Claim.

St. Louis, April 9.—Three feet of man isn't much, but it's enough to make a good wager on, declares I. J. Shaner, who claims to be the smallest Odd Fellow in the world and offers to get good money on his claim.

Shaner says he is just 36 inches tall—notice he says nothing about feet, like a true press agent?—and weighs only 65 pounds.

He lives in Leadwood, Mo., a neat little burg near Boone Terre. He has been a member of Rising Sun lodge No. 392 three years. He is a photographer by occupation, and his lock box is No. 5.

He issues his challenge to answer the claim of James M. Burnett, of Bristol, Tenn., who wants to be known as the smallest Odd Fellow in the United States or on earth.

KING OF THE BELGIANS

LEOPOLD II. IS CELEBRATING HIS SEVENTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY.

MOST UNPOPULAR OF MONARCHS

His Love Affairs and His Treatment of the Natives of His African Dependencies Have Added to His Disrepute.

Brussels, April 9.—Leopold II., king of the Belgians, is today celebrating his 73d birthday.

Few public observations marked the anniversary and there is almost a total absence of popular demonstration. The congratulatory messages of other sovereigns were formal in wording.

The aged Leopold is perhaps the most unpopular of European monarchs, both among his own people and the rulers of other nations.

His love affairs and his treatment of the natives of his African dependencies have added to his disrepute at home and abroad.

Leopold II. was born April 9, 1835, and was a son of Leopold I., prince of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and an uncle of Queen Victoria, who was elected king of Belgium in 1834, and Princess Louise, daughter of King Louis Philippe, of France.

Leopold II. has occupied the throne since 1865. His wife, the Austrian Archduchess Marie Henriette, died in 1902.

"WETS" ARE AGAIN VICTORS

Brookfield Elects Slate Favorable to Liquor Element.

Brookfield, Mo., April 9.—Tuesday's municipal election amounted to a second edition of the local option fight which was won by the "wets" several weeks ago.

The "dries" endeavored to put such men in office as would place a prohibitory license in vogue and thus shut out the liquor element.

"The Brookfield ticket," as the wets called their slate, went through with majorities ranging from forty to over a hundred.

The principal fight was upon Dr. A. C. Pettijohn, who was elected mayor by a majority of forty.

The "Brookfields" elected every officer in the village and two of the four members of the council.

DIES TRYING 40-DAY FAST

St. Paul Man Starves to Death in Thirty-One Days.

St. Paul, Minn., April 9.—Knut Olmstead died yesterday, having literally starved himself to death in an attempt to fast for forty days in order to demonstrate his theory that the mind controls and sustains the body. His fast lasted thirty-one days, according to those who lived with him.

Olmstead had been getting weaker for a week, and Tuesday a fellow-boarder notified the police, who found Olmstead emaciated and weak. He refused to be treated by a physician or to eat. A doctor who went to see the faster yesterday morning found him dead.

ROX CURES QUICK

These Sweet Little Chocolate Coated Tablets cure Men quickly and permanently when Santal Oil, Capsules, Copalins, and other remedies fail. Complete treatment $1.00. The only safe cure sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

To aid in healing old sores, or ulcers, apply Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve to them while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" to purify and enrich the blood.

Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve is cleansing and pain relieving. It destroys the bad odors arising from suppurating, or running, sores and puts them in the best possible condition for healing.

The "All-Healing Salve" is a superior dressing for all open, running, or suppurating, Sores or Ulcers. For healing open wounds, cuts and scratches it is unsurpassed.

If your medicine dealer does not have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock mail 60 cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by return post.

In treating all open sores, or ulcers, boils, carbuncles and other swellings, it is important that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery be taken persistently to purify the blood and thereby remove the cause of the trouble. It is in the blood that the great battle of health has to be fought. The ulcer and the sore are simply the scarlet flowers of disease, with roots running down into the blood. These roots must be eradicated or the disease will break out afresh. "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanses the blood of all foul and poisonous accumulations, pushes out the dead and waste matter, and thus purifies the entire life current. Disease in the flesh must die out when it is no longer fed by foul blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" effectively cures disease in the flesh by curing its cause in the blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, general distress in stomach, constipated bowels, nervousness, sour or bitter rising after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid, or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and its attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Seal Root and other leading ingredients of "Favorite Prescription."

It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions and general debility, it is useful.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Easy to take as candy.

S.S.S. FORTY YEARS SUCCESSFUL SERVICE

When a medicine has stood the test for a period of more than two generations and is then more popular than ever, there can be no doubt of its merit. This is the record of S. S. S. Its period of existence is marked by a long line of cures of blood and skin diseases of every character, and its value in the treatment of such troubles has become so well known that it is today the most extensively used blood medicine on the market. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases and all other troubles due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, S. S. S. has no equal. It counteracts and drives out the poisons, humors and germs, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the disease permanently and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak or anemic, and unable to furnish the body with the nourishment and strength it needs, S. S. S. supplies it with the healthful properties and acts splendidly in toning up and reinvigorating the system. It goes down to the very bottom of all blood disorders, and in this way reaches inherited taints on which the ordinary blood medicines have no effect. Not only is S. S. S. certain in its results, but it is at the same time an absolutely safe remedy. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of known healing and curative value. It does not contain the slightest trace of mineral in any form to damage the delicate parts of the system, and may be used by children with the same good results and perfect safety as by older people. It is not an experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record and one that has proven its worth by its forty years of successful service. If you are in need of a blood purifier for any cause begin the use of S. S. S., write our physicians and they will send you a book concerning your trouble, and will give without charge any special medical advice that is required.

A CHAPTER ON FASHIONS

THE WEEKLY CONTRIBUTION OF CATHERINE MANN PAYZANT.

NEW SUMMER GOODS WITH BORDER

A Few Were Used Last Year, but It Is Now That Their Possibilities Are Recognized in All Quarters.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, April 9.—One of the noticeable features of the new summer goods now in the markets is those with borders. A few were used last year, but it is now that their possibilities are recognized and the manufacturers have given us a numberless variety, not only in the hand painted dyes and chiffons, but in the less expensive and similar fabrics.

They may be found in linens, such as a white ground with a coral border, a brown grass linen with a Persian design, a gray muslin with blue curved and striped lines in its edge. Many of the cotton silks, so called, have borders that represent stencil designs; mulls have beautiful flowered or foliage patterns, and the chailis adapt themselves particularly to such decoration. The foulards, both of the real and the cotton variety, have handsome chevron borders.

Their use is applied equally to the ornamentation of the skirt and the waist, jumper straps, the outlines of the overblouse, Japanese bands and belts, panels, folds and flounces. Trimmings are favorite places for their application, and they are the potent aids of both the short and the tall woman, the one using them in vertical lines and the other in cross-wise fashion.

A foulard is always a useful dress, and a late importation is a good example of the use of the border. The ground of the foulard was a rich green covered with a ring dot in white and a border of white lines diagonal to each other, zigzag, like the arrow headed stripes forming the badge on a non-commissioned officer's coat sleeve.

The skirt very happily combines both the good features of the plaited and circular modes. It consists of six gores, the two at each side being of circular shaping, closely adjusted to the figure, while the front and back gores are plaited.

The closing is made at the left side of the back gore. The chevron bands are placed a few inches above the lower edge and outlining the plaited gores. With other materials the bands may be of lace or of the material with hand embroidery.

The dress is of clearing length. The blouse waist is very simple in construction, the blouse portion being gathered to a yoke, which may be of fine lace or net, embroidered with colored silk matching the colors of the gown material.

Over the shoulders and at the bottom of the yoke, both front and back, are straps of the border, which also forms the Japanese bands over the adjustment of the full sleeves, which end at the elbow and are gathered in to cuffs of the bordered material. The belt is of the border also.

Another development of this gown was in natural colored pongee with a border of white and brown key patterns on the pongee in a darker shade. Lace bands or those of embroidery would be suitable for a white linen or a dotted Swiss or a printed chiffon.

The foulards in blue with designs of white are the best. Liked, though many are shown in dark reds, green and browns and a few in gray and the patterns dots of all sizes, lozenges, dashes, bars and tiny sprigs of flowers.

A few of the foulards are in larger and conventional designs; some are in checks, and some are overlaid and others are in stripes with an invisible or over check beneath.

A white linen having a coral border, done in wreaths and small designs between, consisted of a kilt plaited skirt, the kilts turning from the center to the front. The lower edge is straight, measuring with the plait drawn out about five yards in the medium sizes. It is in clearing length and the straight lower edge makes it adaptable to bordered goods.

The blouse waist had a becoming arrangement of wide and short tucks on the shoulders with a plain space in the center, which is supplied with the bordered goods. The collar and cuffs also are of the bordered goods, as is the belt which is mounted on a heavier linen and finished with a mother-of-pearl buckle.

A second development of this skirt was in olive panama, and instead of the border a fold of goods was applied, with rows of stitching and fine soutache braid. A design could be applied in braid and the same

Idea carried out in the waist and collar and cuffs and belt.

A tunic skirt and waist was made from bordered goods in wool and silk challis in heliotrope. The five gored foundation skirt of this design is lengthened by a circular flounce, over which is draped a four-piece tunic or overskirt.

A vent is allowed at the front and the side seams of the tunic, the edges of which are connected by straps of the border; and the edges of the overskirt are edged with the border.

The overblouse laps in double breasted style like a surplice waist, and is finished with bands of border. The sleeves are short and full and slashed up the back and trimmed with bordering. The V outline extends almost to the waist line. The underblouse is of lace.

The tunic mode is used for the shawl patterns, now so well liked for gowns. These shawls come in five pieces, oblong shape, enough for a gown, and the contrasting squares at the end of each square is used for the points of the tunic points. The square makes a point of the tunic, and is so arranged and is longer back and front than at the side.

If care is taken in the choosing of the shawls a very pretty effect can be gained by these arrangements.

The shawl designs and bordered goods are particularly adapted to the flounced skirts. Where the goods so cut the border is at the lower edge; the yoke of the dress may be of the border as well as the cuffs and belt.

A mull having a very handsomely flowered border used this trimming

Many of the gingham are shown with borders and its adaptability is exemplified in the trotteur skirt and bolero waist, or jumper or overblouse.

A plain and border gingham was delftly arranged in using the gingham on the crosswise of the goods instead of the lengthwise cut, the fullness at the top being disposed of in gores and small plaits and letting the material fall in its natural lines.

The waist was of white muslin, with straps, or; rather, folds of the border over the shoulders, and the girdle was of the same. The colors used were slate ray, edged with stripes of white and lighter gray and narrow lines of black. A dash of color was introduced in the muslin waist in the collar and cuffs, where embroidered dots in red made a bright finish.

A second gingham was in pink, having a scroll design of white and the narrow panels that alternated with the plaits of the plain goods. The overblouse was laid in alternate tucks and straps of the border. The sleeves were finished with cuffs of the border and the belt and collar.

TO BE 1,550 DELEGATES

IN MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION TOMORROW.

POLITICAL BEES BUZZING TODAY

Interest Centers in the Effort of the Taft People to Force Resolution of Preference for That Candidate.

Boston, April 9.—Political bees are buzzing in a lively manner in the Hub today, scores of the representatives of the various presidential aspirants arriving in the city to look after the political fences of their candidates in tomorrow's republican state convention.

It is almost certain that no preference will be manifested by the convention for any candidate, Senator Lodge and other leaders having decided that such an endorsement would probably lead to factional fights.

Postmaster General George von L. Meyer, who is a close personal friend and admirer of his cabinet colleague, Secretary Taft, will be chairman of the convention, which will be held in Tremont temple at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to select four delegates at large to the republican national convention in Chicago.

George E. Smith, ex-president of the senate, a believer in an unfractured delegation, a warm supporter of ex-Governor W. Murray Crane, and now harbor and land commissioner, appointed by Governor Crane, will be chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Tomorrow's convention will be the largest in the history of Massachusetts, with 1,550 delegates. The apportionment has been made on the vote of last fall on an allotment of one delegate for each first 75 votes for governor, and one additional delegate for each succeeding 150 votes, or fractional part of that number as large as 75 votes.

Interest in the convention centers mainly in the effort of the Taft people to force a resolution of preference for that candidate. They no longer ask to secure a definite pledge binding the delegates to the national convention to vote for the secretary of war. The only other matter of interest is the selection of a fourth delegate at large to accompany Senator Lodge, Crane and Bates.

The four members of the committee on resolutions at large are Fred S. Hall, of Taunton; William W. McClench, of Springfield; Arthur D. Hill, of Boston, and G. Marston Whitin, of Whitinsville.

Of these four men two are understood to be for Taft and two for an unpledged delegation. Fred S. Hall, ex-member of the governor's council, who a few years ago was a candidate for lieutenant governor running against Eben S. Draper and W. W. McClench, vice president of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company of Springfield and a friend of Senator W. Murray Crane, are said to believe in an unfractured delegation.

They are considered to have leanings toward Hughes in the first instance, with Cannon as a possible second choice. The other two men, Arthur D. Hill, of Boston, and G. M. Whitin, of Whitinsville, are supporters of the president and understood to be Taft men first and last.

The other members of the committee on resolutions will be chosen at the convention, one from each congressional district, so that there will be nineteen members in all. These will be nominated by the members of the state committee, each naming a man from his congressional district.

The Eleventh Massachusetts district convention will be held tonight. This district comprises a portion of the city of Boston. Four avowed Taft men are contesting among themselves, Charles H. Innes, Benjamin C. Lane, Frank Seiberlich and Representative Mock. The opposition is represented by I. R. Clark.

$100.00 paid by Dr. Shoop for any recent case of grippe or acute cold that a 25 cent box of Preventics will not break. How is this for an offer? The doctor's supreme confidence in these Little Candy Cold Cure Tablets—Preventics—is certainly complete. It's $100 against 25 cents—pretty big odds. And preventics, remember, contain no quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were always broken. Safe and sure for feverish children. 48 Preventics 25c. W. E. Bard Drug Co.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the delicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cures which dispensed with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sent by letter, all such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

A WARM GREETING FOR HIM

People of Smithton Will Extend it to the Rev. Wm. F. Jones.

Rev. Wm. F. Jones, the newly appointed presiding elder of the Methodist churches in the Sedalia district, will hold quarterly meeting services at Smithton next Saturday night and Sunday morning, April 11 and 12.

Rev. Jones was pastor of the Smithton church from 1893 to 1898, and during his administration the church made wonderful progress and it was only owing to the fact that the five-year time limit was then in force that occasioned his removal to another charge, so the reverend gentleman, when making his first appearance in the capacity of the new presiding elder, may expect a warm greeting from his former parishioners and friends.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA.

Itching, Burning Skin Diseases Routed Without Use of Injurious Drugs.

Great inventors often have been praised for surrendering the secrets of their discoveries. Practically the same thing happened in the medical world in the case of Dr. Decatur D. Dennis, the eminent skin specialist of Chicago.

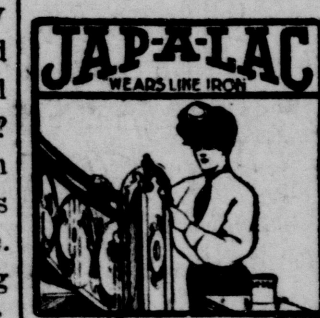

Dr. Dennis, in his own office practice, discovered that pure vegetable oil of wintergreen, properly mixed with other simple remedies was practically a sure specific for eczema, psoriasis, barber's itch, salt rheum, and other itching skin diseases. But the oil of wintergreen alone was found ineffective. It required other mild ingredients such as glycerine and thymol compounded with the wintergreen, to produce the real eczema cure.

This compounded D. D. D. Prescription positively takes away the itch at once—the instant it is applied to the skin. This vegetable liquid does away with deleterious drugs so long used in an attempt to doctor the blood, whereas modern science has determined that eczema is first and all the time a skin disease.

If you want to know more about the merits of D. D. D. Prescription, call at our store. We vouch for this remedy. W. E. Bard Drug Co.

COLLEGES WILL DEBATE

PROMISES TO BE A HIGHLY INTERESTING CONTEST OF "ELOQUENCE."

EACH SCHOOL HAS WON ONE DEBATE

The Question is, "Resolved, That in Pennsylvania a Commission System is Better Than Mayor and Councils."

Swarthmore, Pa., April 9.—Swarthmore college's debating team will meet the orators of Pennsylvania state college tomorrow night in what promises to be a highly interesting contest of wit and eloquence.

The question to be decided is: "Resolved, That in Pennsylvania a commission system of municipal government founded on the Des Moines or Galveston plan is better than the mayor and councils."

This debate is being looked forward to with considerable interest by both colleges, owing to the fact that it is the culminating contest, both Swarthmore and State having won in the previous debates.

Among the men comprising the Swarthmore team are some of the best speakers the college has ever had, and the Quakers are confident of winning.

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.
